Consulting Magazine Announces Its Annual "Small Jewels"

-- Seven distinctive firms top publication's ranking of small but influential consultancies --

After reviewing more than a hundred nominations, Consulting Magazine editors selected the 2006 "Small Jewels" based on a number of criteria, including client impact, firm culture, and innovation within consulting. To be nominated as a "Small Jewel," a firm must have no more than 250 billable consultants.

"Once again our 'Small Jewels' expose the breadth and depth of consulting offerings today," says Jack Sweeney, editor-in-chief of Consulting Magazine. "These seven firms are not only innovative in terms of their client offerings, but they have also established consulting cultures that foster dynamic work environments for their people."

Consulting Magazine's "Small Jewels" will be profiled in the magazine's upcoming March/April issue.
